

Many college students face challenges in organizing their work for their classes which causes stress, bad time management, and missed deadlines.